-Silk Body Care Brush

Ultra-fine silk filament makes this body brush.

It still contains sericin, a natural protein of silk, and it has a moisturizing function and beauty ingredients. The brush tip's delicate curvature is created by the artisanal skills which produce “Kumano brushes”, famous cosmetic brushes and time-tested Japanese techniques.

Dry-brushing your hands or feet improves blood circulation and removes excess keratin.

-Silk Hand Care Gloves (a seamless knit process)

High quality silk filament makes these hand gloves.

Silk is moisturizing, so your hands are protected from dryness and friction while you sleep and left moist after use.

-Silk Foot Care Socks (a seamless knit process)

High quality silk filament makes these socks.

They fully wrap around each toe but don't constrict, and you can flex and open your toes which lets you relax even more.

-Silk Waffle Towel

This hand towel weaves spun silk and cotton with the process of “Banshu-ori fabrics”. Its waffle structure makes it softer and more comfortable with each use.

-Cold Process Soap

This soap contains 10% fine spun silk powder. It is produced in the traditional method and takes two months to keep moisturizing of silk and natural ingredients. By creating fine lather, it absorbs sebum and uses moisture to gently cleanse the body. The fragrance of essential oils is calming and soothing. It can be used freely by anyone from children to the elderly as every ingredient in it is natural.
